Previous Education

Where else have you studied? This includes high schools, colleges, universities and any other post-secondary institution, whether you graduated, or just took a few courses. It is very important that we know everywhere you have been and what you have taken. It is a matter of academic honesty to disclose all institutions attended. Withholding information can result in cancellation of acceptance or dismissal from the University. You must disclose studies that you passed and failed. If the courses you have done are similar to work you need to do for your degree at UWinnipeg, you might end up saving yourself time by not having to re-take some classes. For each school you list, please submit an official transcript (copies are not accepted). For transfer credit evaluation, we may ask you to submit further information such as course outlines, reading lists or syllabi. All documents must be submitted to Admissions within four months after submitting this application. Materials submitted later will not be considered for evaluation and transfer purposes.
